Garnes Society ANNUAL IMPACT REPORT

Arthur L. Garnes, M.D.

- First board-certified Black plastic surgeon in the country
- Wasn't allowed to sit for the ABPS Certifying exam - would eventually be 'grandfathered in.'
- First Black director of a plastic surgery program in the U.S.
- Oversaw the first approved plastic surgery residency to exist at a predominantly Black hospital.
- Devoted his practice to the care of the often overlooked, inner-city patients.
- After retirement, moved with wife Vivian to Maryland where he served as a minister and mentor.

Our Mission

- Increase the number of those underrepresented in medicine in the field of Plastic & Reconstructive Surgery.
- Reduce health disparities related to plastic surgery research and education.
- Create a strong network of black and underrepresented minority plastic surgeons through mentorship, collaboration, and fellowship.

GETTING PREPPED FOR SUCCESS

Talent can get you in the game, but it won't take you to the playoffs. It takes strategy.

Games Society is proud to have helped a group of students attend the first PREPPED event, where they learned how to land the right Sub Internship. Being from an underrepresented group shouldn't cause a delay of game in anyone's career. Get the scouting report here, and get ready for an even better event next year.
