Garnes Society
ANNUAL IMPACT REPORT
Arthur L. Garnes, M.D.

- First board-certified Black plastic surgeon in the country
- Wasn’t allowed to sit for the ABPS Certifying exam - would eventually be ‘grandfathered in.’
- First Black director of a plastic surgery program in the U.S.
- Oversaw the first approved plastic surgery residency to exist at a predominantly Black hospital.
- Devoted his practice to the care of the often overlooked, inner-city patients.
- After retirement, moved with wife Vivian to Maryland where he served as a minister and mentor.
Our Mission

• Increase the number of those underrepresented in medicine in the field of Plastic & Reconstructive Surgery.

• Reduce health disparities related to plastic surgery research and education.

• Create a strong network of black and underrepresented minority plastic surgeons through mentorship, collaboration, and fellowship.
